PJH Group Gains Constructionline Accreditation

(ref: NB-363 / APRIL 2010)

The PJH Group New Build Division has been appointed as a member of Constructionline, the UK register of pre-qualified construction services. This Government standard supplier accreditation is the largest database of its kind in the construction industry targeting 8,000 buyers in public and private sector organisations.

By becoming an approved supplier, PJH has met the exacting standards required by Constructionline, such as financial stability, environmental policy and health & safety criteria. This demonstrates to potential PJH clients, such as Social Housing organisations, that PJH is fit to supply and already pre-qualified to Government standards.

Members of Constructionline, suppliers and buyers alike, can bypass the many problems associated in every construction tender, such as lengthy questionnaires asking for pre-qualification data – and thus make savings through a more efficient procurement process.

Mike Barnes, managing director, PJH New Build Division, said: "This is the widest construction industry recognition so we are delighted to become a registered supplier. Many of our public sector customers are using Constructionline since it also saves them time and resources in sifting through tenders, so by being accredited with membership adds further credibility to our business."

With over 20 years' experience in supplying and installing a wide portfolio of electrical and gas appliances to the housing industry, PJH has become a leading specialist in the complete project management process, offering tailor made solutions for both public and private housing sectors.
